THE JACK POT.

BY EUGENE WARE.

I wandered down through Europe, I wandered up the Nile, I sought that manumote where mounted Pharaohs lay, I found the scriptural tunnel Where quietly in style Imperial sarcophagi concealed the royal clay. Above the vault was graven deep the motto of the crown: "Who openeth a jack pot may not always rake it down."

It is strange what deep impressions Are made by little things; Within the granite tunnelling I saw a tiny relief: It was a cryptic chamber, I drew and got four kings, On a brief comparison I laid them down and left. Because upon the granite stood the sentence bold and brown: "Who openeth a jack pot may not always rake it down."

I make this observation: A man with such a hand Has psychologic feelings that perhaps he should hang; But I was somewhat rattled Out in that foreign land, And had some dim suspicions, as I had not And there was that inscription, too, in words that seemed to frown: "Who openeth a jack pot may not always rake it down."

NEW YORK FASHIONS.

Greenlines and Laces—Combinations. Trimmings—Millinery—Flowers. Special Correspondence of the Intelligencer. New York, April 30.—Challies are now worn on so many occasions that the variety is constantly increasing, and those in "crane finish," and also in white satin stripes are so charming that they compete successfully with silks or crepons. This material is of light weight, durable and moderate in price, thus commending itself to all classes. In subdued colors, it is suitable for street wear, and in delicate designs on cream or white grounds, makes beautiful evening dresses for young ladies or children. Cashmere robe patterns reappear with deep embroidery in front, or contrasting facing, where lace, metallic or gilt beads are interwoven, in such conspicuous designs that they are only used for carriage, dinner or reception wear. Dimities are in larger floral figures than those of last season, and the cords are more generally seen in clusters; their popularity, however, remains undiminished. The newest black grenadines are strewn over with pink rosebuds or other flowers minutely embroidered in colors, and as any shade is adaptable to any flower, the field for selection is very large.

COLORS FIGURES on broad, lengthwise black satin stripes, or palm leaves on similar stripes are among French novelty grenadines; beautiful light colored or white ones for evening in scroll or rose patterns interspersed with reppé silk disks, will be worn over white or pale laced silks, trimmed with moire ribbon or lace. Although many other attractions are offered, black drapery remains in favor, and a somewhat heavy net resembling guipure is very fashionable; in keeping with the black laces, so popular at present. The bow-knot pattern is still shown; fleur-de-lis is however pre-eminent graceful, and in this fabric as elsewhere, stripes are prominent.

COMBINATIONS NO LONGER EXIST

beyond vests or blouse waists; as in suspender dresses the skirt and waist extending to about corset height and cut in one, with broad straps passing over the shoulders above a silk blouse, or a lace yoke and sleeves may be lined with colored silk. The Russian blouse is made in several different materials, and is used for a large proportion of cotton dresses trimmed with embroidery or braid, and in wool stuffs with passementerie or fancy braids. It is in lace, however, that the Russian blouse appears to best advantage, and during the ensuing summer there will be seen in black, ecru or white lace and also in silk or bengaline, trimmed with lace or ribbon. Silk waists quite similar to those of last season will be more popular than ever, in plain shades and also in flowered silk, sometimes simply made, then again lavishly ornamented with black or white lace. Pointed waists are very popular, and a recent Broadway opening, the graceful appearance of the corsets was universally remarked, subsequently it was ascribed that R. & G. corsets had been put on the forms and the waists fitted over them with a charming result.

A GREAT FANTASY EXISTS

for the Swiss belt, which is simply a medium-sized old-time peasant waist, and with cotton dresses is edged with embroidery, occasionally of embroidery throughout. It is also used for the Russian blouse, bordered by beaded galloon; when worn with black-lace dresses is entirely of beads, and is particularly stylish confining a silk blouse under jacket fronts. Very handsome leather belts are also pointed, and they certainly are more picturesque than round belts. Jet and silk passementerie are very fashionable, varying from a cord-like galloon to a heavy network of leaves, scroll designs or flowers, twelve inches wide, often interwoven with metallic, jet, gilt or crystal beads, and from $20 to $30 per yard. Open passementerie corsets, with neck and sleeve pieces, are elegant, and for evening dresses the corset front is edged with deep "rain" fringe. Bands of bright-colored Russian embroidery are new this season, but quite expensive because fashionable. Moss trimming in black or in various colors is very popular, and particularly pretty on basques or silk waists. Small passementerie frogs are a pretty novelty on plain cloth costumes, a row extending from the left shoulder across the front and the right side of the skirt, finished by a satin bow. Five frogs are placed on each sleeve, between elbow and waist, thirty-six in all being the required number.

IN MILLINERY SOME VERY FANTASTIC

have appeared recently; placed far back on the brim, and in front Princess of Wales tips and broad ribbon loops, held by a Rhine-stone buckle. One of these crowns resembles a gentleman's miniature beaver with a brim; about five inches high and scarcely wide enough to admit an ordinary-sized hat. High trimming at the back is not universal, although still admissible, and many stylish hats, in the center and also at the side. There must be, however, in round shapes, a high loop, aigrette or tips somewhere—that is, a clinquant now. Young girls' hats have ribbon or gauze streamers, about a yard and a half in length, flowing loosely at the back; sometimes slightly bunched at the edge of the brim.

BLACK HOSIERY

still laces, and next in order is gray. The Suede tints are also in great demand, either in plain weave or in Angolo rib. Dark crimson is stylish and white silk will be much worn to match white canvas shoes. Fashion's decree for this season is, that costume, hosiery and shoes must harmonize.

FANNY FIELD.

POLITICAL POINTS.

A Doubtful Case.

Exchange. Flossie's mother is an excellent Republican woman, while her father is a pronounced Democrat, and tells it nearly as often as Hill does. The other evening Flossie finished her prayer with "And oh, lord, dear, do save papa. Amen." "Why, Flossie," exclaimed her mother, "what do you mean by saying that? Don't you want anybody else saved but papa?" "Of course I do, mamma," she replied, very seriously, "and you and me's all right; but papa is a Democrat, and it takes a little extra prayin' to get him through, and we ain't sure about it even then, mamma."

Republucans Have Plenty of Them. Keyer Echo. J. N. David, esq., of Clarksburg, well known as an educator, writes to the Wheeling Intelligencer on the importance of selecting the right man for the responsible position of state superintendent of free schools. The Republican ought to have no difficulty in selecting an unexceptionable man. We wouldn't be surprised if a man named David, of Clarksburg, might fill the bill. If for any reason he should not be the man there is a man named Miller in Fairmont, and another in Buckhannon named Fleming who would be every way unobjectionable. We very much doubt if we have exhausted the list of first-class candidates.

A Good Man on the Wrong Side.

Morganstown Post. Camden Sommers, of Clarksburg, it seems, hasn't "dipped" at all, as stated in the Wheeling Register. He is announced for state auditor in every Democratic paper in West Virginia. Cam is now making a canvass of the state. He is a good fellow, personally, is high-toned and intelligent, but we are sorry to inform him this is not Democratic year in West Virginia.

Fills the Bill.

Tyler County Star. A correspondent in the Wheeling Intelligencer of last Monday gives his opinion as to what kind of a man should be nominated for state superintendent of free schools. We know of no one that "fills the bill" more completely than Prof. F. H. Crago.

Instructed for Bennett.

Drorton Democrat. Braxton is the first county to lead off with instructions for Judge Bennett for Governor. The mass convention held Sutton last Monday endorsed his candidacy and instructed her delegates to the state convention to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

A Good Example for Democrats to Follow.

Shepherdstown Register, (Dem.) The Republicans of Wheeling have selected Mr. C. B. Hart as a delegate to the Minneapolis convention. Mr. Hart deserves the honor and we are glad he was elected. Now let the Democrats do the same thing for Mr. Taney.

What's the Matter with Farmer Pendleton?

Weston Democrat. Hon. L. C. Post is highly spoken of as a farmer candidate for Congress in the First district. He is a farmer and eminently fitted for the position, and would be a credit to the agricultural interests of the state.

What a Day May Bring Forth.

Morganstown Post. Rome wasn't built in a day, but the Democratic party in this state is to be buried in a day—election day, in November.

That Tired Feeling

Is often the forerunner of serious illness, which may be broken up if a good tonic like Hood's Sarsaparilla is taken in season. This medicine invigorates the kidneys and liver to remove the waste from the system, purifies the blood and builds up the strength.

Constipation is caused by loss of the peristaltic action of the bowels. Hood's Pills restore this action and invigorate the liver.

A New York man tried to get the legislature of his state to pass a bill providing for the death penalty for owners of dogs whose bite caused death.

Wrapped in a Poisonous Veil

In the midst of us rising from the shores of sluggish streams, from low lands soaked by freshets or from marshy muddy flats on the outskirts of populous cities, lurk disease and death. Immersed in this poisonous veil of mist are isolated business structures, manufacturing villages and humble tenements. For those who either from motives of business interest or dire necessity are daily constrained to breathe this envenomed atmosphere, there is no immunity save in an efficient medicine. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters fully fill the need, protecting who communities from the insidious attacks of malaria, a disease which inflicts malignant malar is scarcely less to be dreaded in the individual than typhus. Every type of it is thoroughly eradicated by the Bitters. This peerless medicine also remedies dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney trouble, rheumatism and nervousness. It is a restorative, too, of appetite, sleep and flesh.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

The last edition of the "American Newspaper Directory" shows that there are now 18,714 newspapers published in the United States, of which 1,759 are dailies.

A Pointer.

"I am very much pleased with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says H. M. Bangs, the druggist at Chateaufort, Ill. "During the epidemic of the grippe he took the lead and was very much better liked than other cough medicines."

The grip requires precisely the same treatment as a very severe cold, for which this remedy is so efficient. It will promptly loosen a cold and relieve the lungs, soon effecting a permanent cure, while most other medicines in common use for colds only give temporary relief. 50 cent bottles for sale by druggists.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

The Features of the Money and Stock Markets.

New York, May 2.—Money easy at 1 1/2 per cent, last loan 1 1/2 per cent, closed offered at 1 1/4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 3 1/4 per cent. Sterling exchange quiet at $1 51 1/2. Sales 129,826 shares.

The stock market to-day in the absence of London orders, owing to the holiday there, was quiet and listless, moving within narrow limits. The market was supplied with the only features of specialties. The market still presented the same professional character, and the only interest in trading is confined to a very few stocks. Among railroad stocks the quinquers were weak. The coalers and Gould stocks were firm during most of the time. There was throughout a firm tone. There was only one material decline, which was sugar, which was lost 1/2 per cent. The market closed quiet but firm, with the great majority of the list within a small fraction either up or down of the final figures of Saturday.

Breadstuffs and Provisions.

CHICAGO, May 2.—With remarkably light deliveries and a heavy bid in prices to-day, the early strength was due to a certain extent, which it was thought would tend to delay farm work. The delivery of what was small, as usual, and the uncertainty about the wheat supply, and the figures finally posted showed a decrease in wheat of 1,215,000 bushels, a decrease in corn of 1,383,000 bushels, an increase in oats of 510,000 bushels. This gave a little firmer tone to the market for a moment. A cold wave was also reported in the extreme northwest.

Corn was weakly active. The visible stock was hardly as much as was reported. The liberal estimated receipts for tomorrow, with the weakness in wheat, was bearish for corn on the wind up.

Options dull with little change in prices. Flour steady and unchanged.
